OUR BUSY MEN.

Here and There Among the Cincinnati Hives of Industry.

Tom Bradford is always on the "gouge." Pat. Milligan knows how to handle the bell(e).

There are no "sleeker" fellows than molders.

You can not find a "plaster" man than Ben. Thompson.

If you associate with Dick Riley he will surely "chisel" you.

Keep away from John Morris or he will make a "tool" of you.

Johnny McManus pays a great deal of attention to his shape(r).

Alex. Cunney is a good man to "pattern" after, as he is a perfect model(er).

Jack Dodds would make a good bar-keeper, for he knows how to tap a cypoln.

James Regan was in the city yesterday on a visit to his old friends with whom he used to work. Jim is a good molder, but he says he likes to keep a grocery store better than the trade.

Mr. Thilman, of the Telephone Exchange, having recently married the eldest daughter of Mr. Newton B. Colford, the Commission Merchant on Walnut street, has settled at Redbank, Ohio.

Mr. Cunney, the pattern maker, has at his shop on Front street, the model of a machine for making brass head tacks. It is a curious looking machine, and the inventor of it is a Catholic priest.

Mr. A. W. Francis, the well-known Odd-fellow, and Secretary of Washington Lodge No. 2, and an old-time blacksmith, but of late one of the firm of Thomas, Son & Co., is failing very much in health.

Mr. Fred. Doppes has moved from Clark street into a house at the foot of Oakley street, which his father, Mr. J. P. Doppes, the lumber merchant at the corner of Eighth and Baymiller streets, recently purchased.

The high price of coal is affecting the manufacture of iron, and there is some talk among the rolling-mill proprietors of ceasing work, if the prices raise much higher. The expense of transportation by rail is too great.

Peter Mader, an old boiler-maker, who formerly worked for McVain, Speigel & Co., is now Superintendent of Charles T. Dumont's boiler yard. Pete is one of the best boiler hands in this city, and Mr. Dumont was fortunate in securing his services.

Mr. Beverly Musselman is contemplating the convenience and inconvenience of a residence at Cumminville. We will venture to say that should he decide to live there he will miss the evening train about five nights out of six. You had better remain in the city, Bev.

Mr. Walter Manning, a prominent Odd-fellow and a member of Washington Lodge No. 2, who was so unfortunate at the time of the burning of Mr. Louis Cook's factory as to lose his box of tools and some valuable works on mechanics, is now working with Mr. Wm. Donaldson.

Messrs. Ross, Davis & Company are manufacturing a new machine for the purpose of hammering out and forming the soles of shoes. He recently sold one to a Philadelphia shoe factory that is turning one thousand pair each day. This speaks well for Cincinnati's Eastern trade.

Mr. Billy Thomas, of the firm of Thomas, Son & Company of Second street, has beautified his home at Carthage, Ohio, by improving the walks and laying out beds of choice flowers around it. It presents quite a different appearance now from what it did when he first moved into it.

Mr. Benjamin Jenifer, formerly an old liverystable man of this city, and lately a resident of Springdale, is now residing a short distance out on the Little Miami Railroad. He is following the business of contractor for making roads and grading, and making streets for new villages.

Messrs. I. & E. Greenwald have contracts for some very large stationary engines, that one to go South, when finished, and as Charlie Franzman has recovered from his sickness and resumed the work of boring the cylinders, he will have to be lively to get ahead. Charlie's the boy can do it.

Mr. H. Brickford, who keeps a general machine shop on Front street, has invented and is now making a species of a much needed improved drill press. They are provided with a movement called the quick return feed. The tables can be adjusted to proper height by a rack and pinion. When desired they can be made to feed themselves.

Mr. James D. Welch, the General Agent of the Kansas Pacific Railroad, has rented and moved into a new office just around the corner from where he was formerly, but still in the Burnet House. He has fixed up a portion of the display he had at the Exposition and intends to let it stand as an inducement to those desiring to go west, to settle in the State of Kansas.

At Mr. Dumont's machine shop, on East Front street, can be seen a large kettle of cast iron, which is used at the Work-house for boiling soup. The soup is boiled by steam, and there is a chamber all around the kettle formed by placing another one of larger size over it, and the steam enters through an opening in this covering. The flames of the kettles are riveted steam-tight, with a ground joint. The apparatus is large enough to make soup for several hundred men.

AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.

Last night at the Grand Opera-house the eminent comedians, Robson and Crane, opened an engagement in Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors," with the stars as the "Two Dromios" and Mr. Webb as the "Aged Merchant of Syracuse." The piece was presented here for the first time last season and drew immense houses. It is a masterpiece of comedy that can seldom be played, and never again in this generation. In all probability, it will be seen under the favorable auspices that now attend it. Mr. Crane's imitation of Mr. Robson's peculiar piping voice is wonderfully accurate. The support is very fine. John Marble was so many years here that every theater goer feels personally acquainted with him. He is as good as ever, which is saying volumes for him. Mr. Lipman is also an old Cincinnati favorite. Miss Proctor, Miss Myers and Miss Robson are also fine artists and complete a very fine support. Every evening and Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

PIKES OPERA-HOUSE.

Rice's Evangeline Company, at this house, had a good audience, and the familiar but popular piece is very well rendered by the present organization. All the old attractions are presented, the music is excellent, and the piece altogether as enjoyable as when last seen here two years ago. The leading members of the present company are very attractive and accomplished artists. Miss Dora Wiley has the most beautiful voice, and just fits the character of "Evangeline," and Miss Searle makes the very best "Gabrielle," that has essayed the role. "The Lone Fisherman" is as quaint as ever, and all the other novelties are first-rate. "Evangeline" will be presented every night, and at the Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

HEUCK'S OPERA HOUSE.

The "Big Four Minstrels" drew a full house at Heuck's last night. The first part was good and the wind up full of fun. "A Lover in Distress" followed, and proved satisfactory. Johnny Allen, in songs and funny sayings, the well-known comedian, made quite a hit, and Charles Harvey, the female impersonator, was called on the second time, but had the house been light he would probably have received no applause. Next came the world renowned "Big Four," Smith, Waldron, Morton and Martin, in songs, dances, grotesque specialties, etc., and they proved to be half the show and drew forth round after round of applause. Theo. Jackson and the Kline Brothers were comparatively good. The performance concluded with "Private Theatricals," a very clever act, by the whole company.

VINE-STREET OPERA-HOUSE.

This place had another big house last night, and the principal attraction was J. J. Reiley. The performance began with Ninon Duolos' Blondes. The first part was followed by an olio, embracing J. D. Roome and his banjo; Louise De Luit, song and dance; Miss Georgie Lingard, vocalist; Virgie Jackson, ballet Clodoché; Minnie Clyde, change artist; living art pictures, A.C. The performance concluded with J. J. Reiley's spicy and sensational piece, entitled "Uncle Si Salem," with Reiley in the title role. He is a second Den Thompson, and his play is after the style of Joshua Whitcomb. He took the house by storm last night. Same bill to-night and matinee to-morrow.

Harry Fellows left yesterday for Cleveland, where he opened at the Comique last night in "Fighting For the Belt," supported by Searly. After his engagement in Cleveland he goes to Boston, New York and other Eastern cities, and expects to return to Cincinnati in about four weeks.

Oh, hush! Time, 9:30 last evening. Place, dress circle, Masonic Theater. They were talking about the theatrical season generally. She, innocently—"I believe Mary Anderson has a new play, 'Love.'"

He, taking unworthy advantage of the uncertain construction of the sentence—"I think she has, dear." Then she saw it and screamed.—[Nashville Banner.]

The burlesque of the "Sultan's Harem" was put on in good style at Escher's last night by Miss Lizzie Smith and Miss Zerrina. They were supported by Daisy Wardwood, Alice Gilmore, Effie DeRock, Mamie Wallace, H. Chapman, McLaughlin, Dan Hart and the full company. The regular olio followed the burlesque and the performance concluded with a fine drama by H. Chapman and the company.

CHILL CURE.

Fever & Ague, Chills & Fever,

NEURALGIA, DYSPEPSIA, BILIOUSNESS, as well as all forms of MALARIAL FEVERS and DISEASES are permanently cured by Magill's Chill Cure, Tonic and Appetizer.

It does not contain Arsenic, Colocint, Mercury, Quinine, or Injurious Drugs. Don't forget this if you value health. Many persons now on the market rely on one or more of these poisons or strong drugs, or upon others equally as bad for what little claim they have to merit. At best they only give temporary relief and are liable to permanently injure the system. Magill's Chill Cure, Tonic and Appetizer is positively free from these and every other harmful ingredient and may be given to young children or persons in feeble health without possibility of a shadow of injury being produced. The proprietor holds himself responsible for this statement and pledges himself to the public to guard and protect the absolute purity and great merit of this medicine by personal attention to its manufacture. He receives many letters from persons saying they have been humbugged by worthless medicines. This naturally makes them skeptical and is likely to destroy confidence even in articles of real merit. Hundreds of statements similar to the one given herewith could be published if our space allowed of it. The proprietor refers to thousands who have used this medicine and are advising others to use it as evidence of its merit. From J. Singleton, No. 271 Jefferson street, Louisville, Ky., March 10, 1879: "I suffered for many years almost constantly with Fever and Ague or Chills, had several doctors, used Quinine and other medicines freely, all failed to cure me, was completely unfitted for work, Magill's Chill Cure, Tonic and Appetizer cured me last August and I have enjoyed perfect health ever since. I gained rapidly in flesh and strength. I believe this medicine possesses most remarkable merit, and in any case it was apparent from the very first dose I used." Price $1.00 per bottle. For sale by druggists and general dealers.
